West Studies Soviet Disarmament Idea

Wonder How Far Russia Would Go

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Western delegates checked Moscow's new atomic plan closely Friday for information on several important and puzzling points. They were left wondering how far the Russians are prepared to go.

These delegates and some neutral U.N. sources said privately that Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky apparently took an affirmative step Thursday in putting his atomic proposals before the U.N. Assembly. But they said he ruined the effect by voicing the usual Soviet assault on the United States and others and by accusing Nationalist China of piracy in Formosa Strait.

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, will give the first Western reaction in a speech to the Assembly Monday. In debate Friday, Ernesto de Moraes Leme, Brazil, said the Vishinsky view was one of the more hopeful signs in the Assembly. Brazil is a member of the U.N. Disarmament Commission.

Another Latin American delegate, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, of the Dominican Republic, warned free nations not to be misled by Vishinsky. In a statement he called the Russian proposal a "subterfuge to kill the Eisenhower atoms for peace plan."

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, had nothing to say about the Vishinsky plan Friday.

In brief, here are some of the major points raised by delegates in conversations on the Vishinsky plan:

1. Vishinsky said that in the first stage, in six months or a year, states should reduce their armaments, armed forces and budgetary appropriations for military requirements to the extent of 50 per cent of agreed levels. What are the agreed levels? Does Vishinsky consider the level to be flat, one-third cut of military establishments — so often proposed by Moscow and rejected by the West?

2. Vishinsky proposed a temporary international control commission under the Security Council with the right to require states to report measures to reduce armaments and armed forces. That goes back to an early American objection, first voiced by Bernard M. Baruch against subjecting any international atomic control organ to veto in the Security Council. Does Vishinsky consider the veto would apply to the control organization?

3. Vishinsky proposed that in the second and permanent stage of elimination of atomic and hydrogen weapons there be a standing international organ to supervise the implementation of the treaty prohibiting weapons of mass destruction. He did not say whether this permanent organization should have full powers of supervision, "including the power of inspection on a continuing basis to the extent necessary to insure implementation of the convention by all states."

This is viewed by some delegates as the real testing point of Moscow's intentions. How far will Moscow permit such inspection? Vishinsky in the past has used the same language about continuing inspection but has insisted the inspectors look only at plants reported to them by governments.

Switch Mates After Marriages Of 18 And 21 Years

OAKDALE, Calif. (P)—Two prominent Oakdale couples have switched mates after marriages that lasted 18 and 21 years. The wives, while trading husbands, kept their houses.

Last week in Reno, Ella Stevens, a director of the Oakdale Chamber of Commerce, divorced George Stevens, a restaurant owner whom she married in 1935. Simultaneously Alpha Jones divorced Leland Jones, owner of the Oakdale Concrete Pipe Yard. They married in 1933.

Mrs. Stevens then married Jones Sunday at Lodi Congregational Church. Stevens was married to Mrs. Jones in a quiet ceremony at Lake Tahoe.

The two couples are friends of long standing.

Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America, was born on Roanoke Island, Va., which now is part of North Carolina.

Two French Aides Confess Giving Reds Defense Information

PARIS (P)—The French counter-espionage service disclosed Friday that two high and trusted defense officials had confessed leaking secret information from the National Defense Council, top military planning body of the nation.

The disclosure came after the two men had been arrested and questioned all Thursday night in the case that is threatening to blow up into a major political scandal—how did reports from top secret meetings of the Defense Council reach the Communist party's high command?

The officials named were Rene Turpin, chief of the personal staff of the permanent secretary general for national defense, and Roger Labrousse, chief administrator of the same department.

Both were imprisoned in Paris Friday night.

A brief police announcement said the two suspects, under questioning on leaks from the National Defense Council, "have admitted to being the authors of the leaks."

Well-informed sources at the Ministry of Interior indicated it is Turpin who is principally implicated. Labrousse it was alleged, acted only as intermediary in passing on the information Turpin obtained.

Andrew Baranes, a Communist newspaperman and police informer, has disappeared since undergoing interrogation about the affair more than a week ago. A warrant was issued Thursday for Baranes' arrest.

Under the French penal code both would be liable to five-year prison sentences if found guilty of passing secret information to persons inside France. If it is proved they sold secrets to a foreign power, they could be sentenced to death.

Although Baranes failed to answer a summons to appear before the examining magistrate Thursday his wife went in his place. She insisted she knew nothing of her husband's present whereabouts.

Baranes had acted as informer for Police Chief Inspector Jean Dides, whose interception by counter-espionage agents blew the whole case wide open. Dides was said to have had in his possession secret papers he was not entitled to have. He claimed he got them from Baranes. Dides is now suspended pending investigation.

MORRISON, Ill. (P)—Justice William J. Fulton of the Illinois Supreme Court said Friday he plans to retire from the bench Nov. 1.

The 79-year-old Republican, a member of the Supreme Court since 1942, gave two reasons for his retirement—advancing age and the illness of his wife, Laura. He said he wants "to spend more time" with Mrs. Fulton at their home in Skycamore.

Justice Fulton's announcement of his plans to step down from the state's top court came as a surprise. It was made before a group of judges and lawyers attending the annual meeting of the 6th Supreme Judicial District in Morrison.

The justice told the group he had decided to quit Nov. 1 because he would have to serve another six years on the bench if he failed to retire then. Re-elected in 1951, his 9-year-term does not expire until 1960.

First elected to the Supreme Court in 1942, Justice Fulton represented the 6th District embracing 12 northwestern counties of the state.

He said he had not informed Gov. Stratton of his plans to retire, but will send him a letter of resignation by mid-October.

"There is no possibility of my changing my mind about this," he told a newsman.

Although he gives up all active military assignment, a five-star general never retires.

College Gets Baby To Use As Model In Home Ec Class

CHARLESTON, Ill. (P)—Eastern Illinois State College has a new baby and everyone from the president to its make-believe mothers are "pleased as pumpkins."

"She's our third baby, and just a wonderful child," said Dr. Robert G. Buzzard, college president, and himself the father of four.

The 16-day-old baby—given the name Amy North—is used as a live model in a home economics course. Four 20-year-old coeds take complete care of her.

This arrangement drew some objection from State Welfare Department officials last January. Dr. Roman L. Haremski, superintendent of the department's Child Welfare Services Division, said then the practice was objectionable because "there is no father person in the picture" and it also deprives the baby of normal attachment to any one person, such as its mother.

Dr. Buzzard told a newsman Friday that the two other babies previously used in the courses were baby Margaret Ann North, now over 2, and baby David North, now about 16 months.

Welfare Department officials objected to the arrangement because the first two babies' mothers were unwed when they loaned their children to the school.

Dr. Buzzard said the new baby's parents are married and that he could see no conflict with welfare officials since the baby is not a welfare case or available for adoption.

Names of all parents are kept secret.

Dr. Buzzard said Dr. Haremski visited the college last May and expressed disapproval of the case of David North.

"We're just plain educational people," Dr. Buzzard said, "and we need the baby as part of our educational program. We clothe it, feed it, care for it, for the teaching value we get out of it. And we just love the little things."

Asked how this teaching is applied in a practical sense, Dr. Buzzard said:

"(We Dr. Buzzard and his wife) had four but before our first we just didn't have any experience with babies at all. We did our best, along with the Lord's help. This sort of teaching just makes things better for everyone."

France Blocks Plan To Free, And Rearm Western Germany

Indict, Charge Five With Labor Racketeering

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (P)—A federal grand jury Friday returned four more indictments charging five persons with labor racketeering.

One indictment named Orell B. Soucie and Henry H. Highfill, both representatives of the AFL Operating Engineers, Union with headquarters at Terre Haute, Ind.

Three other indictments naming three persons were ordered suppressed until the accused are taken into custody.

The tenure of the jury, which was impaneled last November, was extended to 18 months by Federal District Judge Fred L. Wham. He congratulated the grand jurors for having done an "unusual and outstanding task."

Soucie and Highfill were charged in Friday's indictment with extorting $2,500 in 1952 from the Howell Asphalt Corp. of Mattoon, Ill., in connection with highway paving jobs at Windsor and Sullivan, Ill. Both of the men had previously been indicted on racketeering charges.

Baltimore Crowd Shouts Threats At Negro Students

BALTIMORE (P)—A crowd of about 400 white adults and teenagers shouted angry threats at Negro pupils leaving Southern high school Friday as demonstrations against combined white and Negro classes in Baltimore public schools gained momentum.

Police hustled the Negro pupils out of Southern High two or three at a time into prowl cars and took them home.

The crowd milled after three of them.

Leon Thompson, 14-year-old Negro, was punched in the face. Jack Zimmerman, 24-year-old unemployed shipyard worker from 28 blocks away, was fined $100 on an assault charge for hitting the lad.

Two other white men and a negro were fined $25 for disorderly conduct.

A young woman physical education teacher rescued a Negro boy and girl after they had been surrounded by demonstrators. She drove into the crowd, took the two youngsters into her car, and sped off with them.

The crowd tried to upset the cruiser in which Zimmerman and the Thompson boy were taken to a police station.

Police had squelched an earlier threat of violence at Southern High, one of six schools to which picketing, boycotts and protests spread Friday. There are only 36 Negroes among the 1,780 enrolled at Southern.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro issued a public statement saying the situation had become "a matter of serious concern." He asked everyone to be calm.

The school board stuck by its announced intention of keeping schools open, with Negroes and whites assigned to study together at 52 of the 190 buildings.

Reds Will Release Two GIs Seized At Czech Border

HEIDELBERG, Germany (P)—Two American soldiers, seized as "spies" by a Communist Czech patrol at the German-Czech border Sept. 17, will be released Saturday, U. S. Army headquarters said Friday night.

An Army announcement said the U. S. Embassy in Prague had been notified by Czech authorities that Lt. Richard Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N.Y., and Pfc. George Plisk of Austin, Tex., will be turned over to Army representatives near the Bavarian border town of Waldhaus.

Two days after their arrest near Esland, Germany, the Czechoslovak government charged in a formal note they were inside Czech territory on an espionage mission at the time. The note accused them of "photographing military installations and carrying out observation with field glasses."

Army headquarters here rejected the charges, declaring the soldiers were on a legitimate mission and were picked up on West-German territory.

Nevada's High Court Lacks Jurisdiction In Status Of Senate Seat

RENO, Nev. (P)—Nevada's Supreme Court ruled Friday it lacked jurisdiction in the dramatic legal tussle between Republicans and Democrats over the status of the U.S. Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Pat McCarran, a Democrat.

The high court refused in Carson City to block certification of two candidates by the secretary of state for the Nov. 2 general elections. Republicans had sought to block the certification by court ruling, contending the seat already had been filled by appointment by Nevada's Republican governor.

"We'll proceed in the lower courts," commented Lester Summerfield, Republican Central Committee attorney, after hearing the ruling.

Earlier Nevada's Republican governor named a Republican to fill the vacant Senate post. The Democrats later nominated a candidate to oppose him if the seat is contested in the Nov. 2 election.

Gov. Charles Russell appointed Ernest Brown, 51, a Reno attorney and reserve Army colonel, to Sen. McCarran's seat, making the Senate lineup 49 Republicans, 46 Democrats and one Independent.

The big question is: Does Brown's appointment last until the end of McCarran's unexpired term in January 1957, or until a successor, chosen in November, takes over next Jan. 3?

Thursday Nevada's Democratic attorney general held that a successor must be decided at the general election Nov. 2.

Sen. McCarran died Tuesday at Hawthorne. Funeral services will be held in Reno Saturday.

Southern Illinois Needs Public Works: Douglas

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (P)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said Friday night unemployment, drought and falling farm prices "have created a critical situation in southern Illinois."

Public works and defense contracts are mandatory to ease the situation, he said.

"Here in Mount Vernon," the Democratic nominee for reelection said in his talk prepared for a party rally, "the first 1,500 men making railroad cars for the Pressed Steel Car Co. up to last February have lost their jobs. This is not due to any failure on the part of the company itself. But since freight car loadings have fallen 14 per cent below last year this has adversely affected all car manufacturers."

"If we could bolster the nation's economy freight car loadings would increase. That is the best long-range solution. But we can't wait for complete recovery. Unemployment, drought and falling farm prices have created a critical situation in southern Illinois."

Calling for immediate action, Douglas said that public works programs, defense contracts and other methods of bettering the economy are needed at once.

Britain Threatens To Withdraw Troop Offer

LONDON (AP)—With a surprise veto Friday night France blocked a compromise plan to free and re-arm West Germany within the Western defense alliance. The action plunged the nine-power conference on Western European unity into an unexpected crisis.

A British Foreign Office spokesman immediately warned that the Churchill government will withdraw its 48-hour-old offer to maintain troops on the European continent if the conference breaks down.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has already warned the United States might have to withdraw its troops from Europe unless the talks succeed. He made no move to change his plans for going home Saturday night, and an American source expressed confidence the new snags would be overcome.

Louisville Jury Indicts Six On Sedition Charge

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)—A Jefferson County grand jury, which investigated alleged Communist activities in Louisville, Friday night indicted six persons on charges of advocating sedition.

The grand jury also charged that one of the six dynamited the home of a Negro in a white neighborhood. The house had been bought through subterfuge.

The six, accused of assembling with persons "teaching, advocating or suggesting the doctrine of criminal syndicalism or sedition, or change of the government of the United States or Commonwealth of Kentucky . . . by force or violence," are:

Carl Braden, 40, a copywriter on the Louisville Courier-Journal, and his wife Anne;

Miss Louise Gilbert, a social worker;

Miss Lurine Spiker, 42, an unemployed factory worker and roommate of Miss Gilbert;

Vernon Baun, a truck driver already under indictment for contempt for refusing to answer questions of the grand jury about Communist activities; and

I. O. Ford, 79, Baun's roommate. The grand jury alleged that Baun set off dynamite which damaged the home of Andrew Wade IV June 27.

New Deal, Fair Deal Tax Bill Writer, Doughton, Dies

LAUREL SPRINGS, N.C. (P)—Former Rep. Robert L. Doughton, who wrote the tax bills for the New Deal and the Fair Deal and gave the country its first social security law, died at his home Thursday night.

Death came peacefully for the 69-year-old Democratic lawmaker who took his congressional seat from a Republican in 1910 and kept it 42 years. A member of his family, going into his room to awaken him early Friday, found him dead in his bed.

As chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Doughton was given credit for writing more tax bills than any other man in U.S. history.

Other delegates had turned down the French Premier's plan as too cumbersome and too difficult to operate. Thousands of persons would have to be employed within the executive agency, they said. They argued that its effect would be to slow down the pace of European industry.

Signs In Minnesota Indicate Why GOP 'Running Scared'

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—Signs that even are eyeing two of the four House seats now held by Democrats.

The Democrats aren't conceding anything. They expect to keep all their House seats. And if Humphrey runs up the heavy margin they hope they figure on bouncing one to three of the five House Republicans and perhaps Gov. Anderson, too.

Democratic hopes are riding high on the basis of several factors:

For the first time in the 10 years since their merger with the Farmer-Labor party, Democrats rolled up more votes than Republicans in the Sept. 14 primary—61,000 more.

Anyone who goes out along the dirt and gravel roads and into the small towns finds a Democratic trend among the farmers. Their incomes are down and they are listening to Democratic poundings on the theme that the Eisenhower administration has failed to keep its promises to farmers.

There is unemployment in the northern iron range. Ore boats are idle at Duluth.

How the political parties fare in 1954 apparently depends in large measure on how the farmers feel. At the moment, many of them feel none too friendly toward the Eisenhower farm program.

NEWSPAPERBOY DAY SATURDAY PUTS SPOTLIGHT ON MIGHTY FINE BOYS

Newspaperboys in Jacksonville and in other cities throughout the land probably will wonder why a fuss is made over them Saturday, Oct. 2—they're doing their job and didn't ask for special praise or recognition. But they will receive the plaudits of their customers, press, radio and TV, never-the-less.

Adult America appreciates the service of newspaperboys and each year tells them about it. Newspaperboy Day has developed out of a desire by governmental and business leaders who once carried "routes," and other appreciative groups, to honor the youngsters who put more than 40,000,000 newspapers each day at the doorsteps of American homes.

We take this opportunity right now to salute the 40 boys who deliver the Jacksonville Journal and Courier in this city, and the 34 boys who carry routes for the Jacksonville newspapers in 22 other towns of this area. They are hard-working, faithful, and are receiving business training before they finish school.

The Journal Courier newspaperboys are often called Little Business Men, because they are in business for themselves—buying their own newspapers and keeping their own accounts. There are 600,000 boys throughout America who are getting similar training as they earn. The newspaperboys of the United States earn a total of $312,000,000 a year, proof that their services are important to the nation.

President Eisenhower was once a newspaperboy. Former President Hoover carried a newspaper route when he was a youngster. Charles E. Wilson, the industrialist; Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker; Ben Hogan, the great golfer; Francis Cardinal Spellman, noted Catholic prelate; General Omar N. Bradley, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and many others were newspaperboys.

In Jacksonville today there are many business and professional men who first had a regular job and income by delivering Journals and Couriers. These men who have become solid citizens and civic leaders can testify to the worth of newspaperboy training.

Business will move ahead as usual Saturday. No parades with brass bands are scheduled. But from our point of vantage every newspaperboy is king for a day, leader of tomorrow!

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—I married a string saver.

Some people say there is nothing worse than a spendthrift wife, but a saving wife can give a man some interesting problems too.

My wife has developed an inability to throw anything away. She saves everything. She even has preserved our marriage license.

But she specializes in saving string, paper bags, newspapers, medicine bottles and old silk and nylon stockings.

These things pile up in such quantities that every seven years we have to move to a larger apartment, simply to have space to store her collections.

It does me no good to reason with her. If I ask her about the stockings that now overflow three drawers, Frances says, "Oh, I'm going to mend them all at once one of these days."

After being married to a newspaperman 17 years she naturally has a big collection of medicine bottles—particularly a spilin' bottle.

"Can't throw them away," she said. "They're useful to take along on trips." But we've got enough to last us through a round-trip to Mars.

"But, in heaven's name, why do you need all those paper bags?" (We not only have paper bags stored in the catch-all bin beneath the refrigerator. We have a number cooling in the refrigerator itself.)

"Oh, you never can tell when you'll need a paper bag in an emergency."

We have enough balls of string now in our home to anchor the battleship Missouri, but I no longer dare point this out to my wife. She's a little touchy on this subject, ever since I read her an article that said people who saved string were often stingy.

"Saving string is inherited in some families," she says. "Most everybody in our family starts saving string after the age of 30. My father did, and his father did before him. It's not a sign of stinginess at all. It just shows common sense. Everybody ought to keep plenty of string handy."

But it is her habit of saving newspapers that causes the most trouble in her home. She saves them everywhere. She folds them and puts them in my desk. She hides them under the beds. She piles them in stacks and puts them behind screens.

One morning, sleepy-eyed, I stumbled into the bathroom, stepped into the shower stall—and fell flat on a big stack of newspapers. Frances, instead of worrying about my bruises, came running and cried:

"Don't turn on the water. You'll get the papers wet."

The reason she hoards newspapers is that she likes to read old news. She'll reach deep into a stack of old papers, pull out a copy, sit down in the chair, and start reading. Then she says some thing like:

"My Shirley Temple certainly is growing up, isn't she?" Or, "Who is this baseball player, John J. McGraw, they are all talking about?"

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—In 1942, a young actor named Richard Quine played a minor role in a movie called "My Sister Eileen." Today Columbia is making "My Sister Eileen" again, and the director is named Richard Quine. Same guy.

This is one of those success stories that make you believe anybody can do anything if he has the will. Talent helps too.

We faded in on a young actor from Detroit who was seeking his fortune in the big city. He landed in a Broadway show, "Very Warm for May," at 18, then drew the part of Frank Lippencott in "My Sister Eileen" with Shirley Booth. That brought him to Hollywood with an MGM contract.

One of his first films was a loan-out to Columbia to repeat as Frank Lippencott in "My Sister Eileen" with Rosalind Russell and Janet Blair. He continued at MGM as a juvenile, with time out for the Coast Guard during the war.

His acting fortunes didn't thrive after the war. Hollywood descended into its depression, and talent rosters were cut to the bone. He was dropped by MGM. Dick decided to seek other fields.

"I never had been entirely happy as an actor," he told me "when ever I saw myself on the screen, I always thought, if only I could have told myself what to do!"

With a friend he wrote, directed and produced a quackle called "Leather Gloves," which attracted some attention. He turned talent scout for Columbia, scouting little theaters all over the country for star possibilities. Then he decided he needed to know more about the movie business. So he took a job as dialogue director at Columbia at $150 a week, working on pictures like "Petty Girl." Quite a comedown for an actor who had been getting $1,000 a week at MGM.

But he watched and learned and soon he was ready to fly solo as a director. He started with a musical melange called "Sunny Side of the Street" and continued with some Mickey Rooney films that were low on budget but high in entertainment.

Recently he came through with a sleeper, "Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak. That won him the "Eileen" assignment.

LITERALLY OVERBOARD
FOX LAKE, Ill. (U)—Speedboat operator Len Koeller brought his new 14-foot boat with a 25-horsepower motor to Pistakee Lake for a trial spin. After he had been out for about 10 minutes his dog got scared and jumped overboard.

Koeller dived in after him, but he forgot to shut off the motor. The Coast Guard Auxiliary crew saved him and the dog and the boat.

The World Today

By ED CREAUGH

(For James Marlow)
WASHINGTON (U)—The J. Robert Oppenheimer controversy lives on.

In some ways it blazes even hotter than ever, three months after the famous scientist was barred by the Atomic Energy Commission from further access to the government's atomic secrets.

Some high octane fuel has been added to the flames with the publication of a new book, "The H-bomb." The authors, James Shepley and Clay Blair Jr., say the United States lagged behind Russia in developing the H-bomb. And they say Oppenheimer, in the days when he was a top scientific adviser to the government, is the man most to blame.

Oppenheimer declines to talk about the Shepley-Blair book. But he has his firm defenders. And two of those criticized along with Oppenheimer in the book—Gordon Dean, former chairman of the AEC, and Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, head of the Los Alamos Weapons Laboratory—say with considerable heat that Shepley and Blair don't know what they are talking about.

All this is not just sound and fury on a conflict of personalities. The row goes to the heart of American science policy and also, maybe even more so, to the heart of that infinitely troubling 20th century problem, security. Security—what is it and how do you get it?—rang down the curtain on Oppenheimer said he was a security risk. They said he had (1) defects of character, and (2) too many friends who were also friendly to the Communists. One of the four expressed the opinion Oppenheimer was disloyal. The fifth member, who has since resigned, found on the contrary that the World War II atom bomb builder was completely loyal.

Shepley and Blair don't dwell on this aspect. They say the point about Oppenheimer is that he was wrong—wrong in opposing an all-out H-bomb development program. In times like these, they say, it may not be criminal to be wrong about so vital a matter—but it is fatal to your country if you are wrong.

Two other journalists who have gone into the matter present a totally different viewpoint. Joseph and Stewart Alsop, writing in Harper's magazine, say Oppenheimer got a raw deal. They call the AEC's handling of the case disgraceful, and they say AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss has been out to "get" Oppenheimer for a long time.

Strauss (pronounced "straws," by the way) has made it no secret that he started the process which ended in Oppenheimer's ouster. Now there develops a new angle. Strauss also confirms he tried to stop publication of the Shepley-Blair book. He's a wealthy man, and he offered to buy the manuscript and lock it in his safe for 25 years or so.

Why? "I thought it would be better if the book were not published," he says. "I have heard both good and bad about it." Mrs. P. A. If a person helps you out without giving you that look that makes you feel sheepish, he's a good friend.

A bride of three weeks asked a divorcee because her husband threw his dinner at her. Getting hit by a can is no fun.

Just go on a picnic if you want to find out how it feels to be a stuffed olive.

There's a place for everything—except your knees under some of the restaurant counters.

The way of a man with a maid often depends on just where his wife is.

Choose a Competent Doctor and Let Him Prescribe; Don't Tell Him How to Treat You

There are any number of reasons why people should not tell their doctors what medicine to give them or how to treat them, but it seems difficult to grasp this important fact.

Child Resents Overdramatics When We're Reading to Him

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Roger's Uncle Fred got married last winter. This fall when he brought his bride to visit Roger's parents, it was their first chance to get acquainted with her.

Though his parents liked her, Roger didn't have much use for his new aunt—and this feeling in him made the visit rather difficult for everyone. What happened was that soon after Aunt Marge arrived, she offered to read Roger a story. It was about a dragon, a princess and a poor gardener's son.

When Aunt Marge read the description of the princess's beauty, she made her voice go all awed and impressed. When the gardener's son talked, she assumed a baritone for his words.

Finally, she arrived at the story's climax. In a sepulchral voice, Aunt Marge said, "There was no sound. But Lance could smell smoke. He knew that the fire-breathing dragon was close at hand."

It was at this point that Roger lost all use for Aunt Marge. He pushed her to get off her lap. He said, "I hafta go and see my rabbit."

Does his reaction seem ungrateful? It won't if we think about it a minute.

We object to someone's telling us how they feel about the movie or the book or the program we are trying to concentrate on, don't we? Of course, we feel that the other person should keep his feelings to himself, so that we can have a chance to experience our own.

Well, that's what Roger felt when Aunt Marge was reading him a story. He felt it was intrusion to impose her own feelings about the story upon him in the form of overdramatization.

When we strain to exaggerate the dramatic values of a story we are reading to a child, it is because we are uncertain of ourselves with him. We overdramatize because we fear we can't hold his interest in no other way. Like Roger's Aunt Marge, we want him to like us. We are reading to him, not to give him pleasure, but to get his admiration.

He always knows this. And very much resents being distracted from an interesting fictional situation. He finds our need for admiration tiresome. He doesn't want to be bothered by it at tense moments in enchanted forests.

The simpler we are when we read to children, the better they like it. In our refusal to overstress the story's drama, they sense respect for them. They know that our refusal is recognition of another imagination quite capable of stressing drama for itself.

GOP Is Going All-Out to Keep Control of Congress

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (U)—All-out Republican efforts to keep control of Congress have set a pace of political activity in this town never before equaled during an off-year election.

A veteran employee of the Republican National Committee left his office late last Saturday night after having worked all day, with the remark, "My gosh, you'd think we were trying to elect Ike all over again, the way we were working."

Usually Washington is a fairly quiet place during the midterm campaigns, with the activity concentrated in the states and districts. But this is what's going on here now.

The Republican National Committee is operating on practically a seven-day week, has increased its staff and hopes to be able to spend about a million dollars in the next few weeks.

Five persons have been added to the speakers bureau, a couple to the public relations staff and there has been a big increase in the number of volunteers asked in for such chores as stuffing envelopes.

A RADIO AND TV EXPERT, Bob Alisen, borrowed from station KT-10 in Los Angeles, is the most overworked new man. He's turning out 30-second spot radio announcements, making up short films of Ike for local TV use and giving advice to all candidates who ask for it.

The total paid committee staff is now about 105 persons.

A committee spokesman admits that the million-dollar estimate may be a little optimistic because contributions are not coming in as fast as expected, and the results of the Maine election might put a damper on future collections.

The National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee has a full-time paid staff of 25 persons with about 10 full-time volunteers loaned from various organizations. Its budget is a half million, two-thirds of which is already collected.

It came into existence several months ago and will fold after the election.

The committee calls itself a political service organization. The group acts as a clearing house for good ideas and programs. It has two trailer trucks, loaded down with barrage balloons, campaign pamphlets and GOP films, touring the 11 districts in which the committee is helping candidates.

Dutch Potato Salad Is Sunday Supper Party Treat

By GAYNOR MADDON
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For Sunday supper parties, Dutch potato salad is a welcome item. We learned to make it in California at the home of friends who entertain easily and warmly.

Potato Salad
(Makes 8 servings)

Six potatoes, cooked (4 cups cubed), 1 onion, finely chopped, three hard-cooked eggs, sliced 1/2 cups chopped celery, 1 cucumber, diced, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika.

Combine all ingredients. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup French dressing and chill for 4 to 6 hours. Just before serving, add enough mayonnaise or salad dressing to moisten. Mix carefully.

Garlic Bread
Mince 2 peeled cloves of garlic and cream into 1/2 cup butter or margarine. Slice a loaf of French bread in 2-inch slices, not quite through to the bottom crust. Spread slices with garlic-flavored butter. (Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired.)

Place bread in a paper bag, or wrap in aluminum foil and heat in a moderate oven until heated through—10 to 15 minutes. Serve at once.

Hot Southern Barbecue Sauce
(Yields: 2 1/2 cups)
Three-quarters cup fresh lemon juice, 1/3 cup hot sauce, 1/3 cup tomato catsup, 1/3 cup cider vinegar, 1/2 cup water, 1 1/2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons powdered dry mustard, 2 teaspoons paprika, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon ground cayenne pepper, 1/4 cup margarine or butter.

Combine all ingredients. Heat only to boiling point. Use as the basting sauce for barbecuing all types of meat and poultry.

SUNDAY'S DINNER: Fruit cup, chicken fricassee, fluffy rice, snap beans with almond slivers, soft rolls, celery and raw carrot sticks, vanilla ice cream, hot fudge sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

PRECARIOUS RESCUE
DAVENPORT, Ia. (U)—When Ricky Page, 2, toddled off a dock on the Mississippi River into 12 feet of water, he was saved by Carolyn Elverud, 10, who had only three swimming lessons as a Girl Scout over a year ago. Carolyn jumped into the muddy river with her clothes on and paddled her way to the sinking baby.

Teach Teen-Agers They Must Give as Well as Take

"Is it possible to get a big, strong, lazy 15-year-old boy to do anything around the house or yard without causing such a rumpus you wish you'd done it yourself?"

The mother who asked that question in her letter goes on to say that she doesn't know whether it is better to keep after her son until he does a few things, however much he grumbles, or whether it is better not to ask or expect anything from him.

She might discard both those solutions in favor of a third. If her big, strong son grumbles about mowing the lawn or washing the car or cleaning out the garage she might try saying in a calm and matter-of-fact voice: "All right, if you hate so to mow the lawn, which is a natural job for a man or boy, I'll go ahead and do it. However, if I take on the yard as well as the house I won't have time to wash and iron your clothes, but you can do that."

STRONG TALK NEEDED
Even a lazy teen-ager ought to get a glimmer from a statement of that kind that his mother has decided that he is no longer a child to be wheedled and begged or coerced but a person who is old enough to know that in this world each person has to do what he is capable of doing and that getting without giving can't go on forever.

Judging from the number of mothers who do and do for their teenage children and never get a helping hand in return or even much thanks, a great many mothers must think there is no way to get teen-agers to cooperate and help around the house.

The way, of course, is to stop treating them like helpless children and start treating them like grownups who are expected to give as well as take.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Aside from the usual suspicion of Russian intent, there is one obvious fallacy connected with her latest disarmament proposal which tends to vitiate the whole thing.

United Nations delegates, including those from the United States, seem to feel there is a bar possibility of doing something with the step-by-step theory produced Thursday by Andrei Vishinsky.

From this corner, it appears extremely difficult if not impossible, even if the Russians do not come up in the end with details which are entirely unacceptable.

The great fallacy presented is in connection with Vishinsky's first two steps. He suggests an agreement among the nations to cut their military budgets, but does not mention men, guns and other weapons by number. This is even worse than the former Russian proposal for a horizontal percentage reduction in manpower which would leave her still predominant.

It sounds all right at first glance, which is all the delegates have had. What it would actually produce, however, is a situation in which it would be impossible to compare Russian compliance with those of the western nations.

Russia's money and Russia's budget doesn't mean anything in western terms.

Russia could completely eliminate her armaments budget and still double her armaments program. That is because she can produce raw materials, build factories and operate them with slave labor so as to completely eliminate costs as the rest of the world understands them. She can and does value the ruble to suit herself, and she can and does cover her actual military expenditures under false entries in the budget.

Thus, submission of her books to an international investigative authority would be meaningless. The West could come up to the second step, complete elimination of conventional arms expenditures, in a greatly weakened position themselves and facing a Russia in a vastly improved bargaining position. They could come to the third step, elimination of atomic weapons, facing a Russia still secretly and completely armed with conventional weapons.

Even if this part of the proposal could be changed and the plan applied directly to actual men and arms, it still would not be realistic. The only situation under which the West can safely disarm would be one in which Russia has completely dropped her intent to conquer the world with communism.

actual inspection of all commercial buildings, public buildings and churches. Each fire hazard found will be tagged with a large red tag and serious hazards will be called to the attention of the building owner or tenant. Such an inspection will in no way effect fire rates in the city nor have any detrimental effect on any property owner, the agents said.

It is also planned to have fire prevention talks presented in the schools and then questionnaires will be given each student for them to make an inspection of their own home with the help of parents.

The following local agents were represented at the meeting and will assist in carrying out the program: Spink Insurance Agency, M. C. Hook and Company, Randolph Little and Son, Ransom Insurance Agency, E. W. Logue Agency, Colton Insurance Agency, Doyle Insurance Agency, Queen Insurance Agency, Alexander Insurance Agency, Ayers Insurance Agency, Grojean Insurance Agency, Rowe Insurance Agency and King Insurance Agency.

Roving Reporter Analyzes Campaign —

Politics Back In California With Big Bang

(Editor's Note: This is another of several stories by roving Associated Press political reporters analyzing the campaign in key states.)

By MORRIS LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — No matter where you look in this thousand-mile-long state, the big fact about the 1954 election is that party politics has come back—with a loud bang—to California.

There is more noise largely because more Democratic candidates are going into November balloting than ever before.

And in a state where "non-partisanship" was the successful slogan for years under the primary cross-filing system which permits a candidate to seek both party nominations, candidates are being forced to choose up sides—for or against the Eisenhower administration, for or against state platforms.

"Vote Democratic!" the bull-boards urge, playing down the ticket.

"Don't fall for blind partisanship," pleads A. Ronald Button of Los Angeles, Republican national committeeman.

The party resurgence rose out of the results of the June primary for governor and five other top state positions, the State Legislature, 30 seats in Congress and the remaining two seats of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's term in the Senate.

For the first time in 40 years, the primary ballot listed the candidates' political affiliation. And the Democrats, with a 760,000 lead in registration, nominated their first full slate of the modern era.

Most candidates ran on both tickets, however, and Republican incumbents, holding every statewide office except attorney general, entered the fall campaign with a generally heavy advantage in the two-party vote.

Far from disheartened, Democratic leaders say they expect to pick up three or four seats in Congress, perhaps remove Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), who was appointed by former Gov. Earl Warren, and perhaps dump Warren's successor, Republican Gov. Graves, longtime executive director of the League of California Clubs. Knight is doing little to alter and state controller, is stake-change the election-tested policies.

ing election on "100 per cent" support of President Eisenhower, H. J. Warren, 45 on Oct. 1, is an outspoken critic and 10 of the 11 Democratic in the administration and of the incumbents are seeking re-election.

SUSPECT By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Copyright 1954 by Hugh Lawrence Nelson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: A woman sheriff, Mrs. Toby Argyle, is investigating the death of Mrs. Angelica Jones, one of the wealthy Carlsons, who is summering at their Rocky Mountain estate in Colorado. Jim Dunn, a private detective, and Nancy, his wife, posing as caretakers, have been retained by Mrs. Kirt Carlson, who wanted "to get something" on her mother-in-law, Mrs. Hilton Carlson. Mrs. Kirt was a suspect in an unexplained death on the West Coast and Angelica's death may place her under deeper suspicion of murder.

XVII
JIM DUNN began a careful examination of the foundation wall under the elevator. He found nothing but the partially disintegrating cement which held together the stones of the wall, and in a harrier form, held together the rocks of the chimney.

He stood erect again, began his search for a hiding place inside the woodbox itself. The 2x12 floor joists rested on a heavy log the length of the woodbox opening, and this log was supported at either end by substantial pillars reaching down to cement blocks set in the basement floor. On either end of the opening, the floor joists went on across to the main support which ran the full length of the house.

A hand reached out and pulled at his pants. He nearly dropped the flashlight, before he looked down into the deputy's upturned face.

"Find anything?" the man asked.

"Not yet," Jim decided his voice was a little too loud, a little brusque so he added, "I'm not sure there's anything here to find. Seems reasonable though. The dead woman was on that platform for some reason."

"Maybe somebody just put her there."

Jim walked the length of the platform gingerly, felt it sway a bit with his passage. He had only one more side to examine, one more wall to hold some sort of secret hiding place. If his assumptions had been correct, he used his light carefully.

At that, he nearly missed it, simply because he was looking for a small opening. And it was the whole side of the wood storage box which dropped down on oiled hinges leaving a dark opening which went into the masonry of the chimney itself.

Not too deep a cavity. An almost square hole, framed by three pieces of wood. Three new pieces. He thought again of the three rotten pieces he had found on the platform's door, knew they had been discarded there at their replacement.

A handy, but quite empty hiding place which could be reached either by someone standing on the platform or by reaching down through the open lid of the woodbox itself.

The floor of the hiding hole showed marks and scratches, ridges in the dust, which could have been made by the use of a broom. Someone had done a bit of tidying up here too.

Jim snapped his head partially around as the lid of the window seat opened from above. Instinct or quick reflexes made him shut his eyes just as a bucket of water splashed out into his face and onto the deputy.

He opened his eyes, saw rising steam in the light of his flash. He waited grimly for the agony which would follow a severe scald.

THE woodbox door lifted open again, Jim ducked, jumped down from the steaming platform of the elevator. He collided with the deputy, knocked the man sprawling, fell to his own knees in the damp combination of water and blood.

"Boiling water," Jim muttered. "I got it right in the face."

"Steaming water," the deputy corrected. "The part I got wasn't too hot. Thank the altitude."

From above came a scream that went on and on like a siren. Metal clattered on the floor above.

It was Mrs. Gelstrap who screamed. And it was Miss Wister who had a firm hold in the older woman's hair, was doing her efficient best to pull it out by the roots.

Mrs. Gelstrap rolled over, used her great weight to crush Miss Wister to the floor. Miss Wister's breath came from her in a grunt. She released her hair hold with one hand, clawed at Mrs. Gelstrap's face. Her nails left red marks down one cheek, starting very close to one of the woman's tiny, glaring eyes.

SUE GELSTRAP'S screaming fastened on one monotonous note. She swung a meaty arm at Miss Wister's face. Miss Wister rolled her head and the cook's tiny hand thumped hollowly on the floor.

That changed the note. Her scream had pain in it now.

Dunn went over took hold of the cook's shoulder gingerly. He said, "Break it up. Stop it."

Mrs. Gelstrap turned her head. Miss Wister used the momentary diversion to wriggle out from underneath. She and the cook struggled to their knees. They stayed in that position while hooked fingers darted out at each other. Cloth ripped. Hair hung in wisps.

Agnes Argyle pushed Jim out of her way. She did not waste words. She was not hindered by any such scruples as those Dunn had been rapidly losing. She practiced no discrimination or partiality. There were two sweeps of her long bony arm. There were two meaty smacks. (To Be Continued)

The Saukees scored in every quarter but the final as they had little trouble with the visiting Railroaders.

Plattner scored the first TD for the winners as the Saukees marched down the field after taking the opening Kickoff. Heaver's conversion was good. The second TD came on a dash by Heaver and this time Frazer ran the extra point and Pittsfield had a 14-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Saukees came back to score three times in the second frame. Paul Smith made the first TD and also added the three extra points in this quarter. The other two touchdowns were scored by Bill Goodin. One of Goodin's runs was a 60 yard dash.

Bob Frazer ran 80 yards from the line of scrimmage in the third period for the winners. Heaver missed the extra point. Sanderson intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards to score the final Saukee TD. Sanderson also made the extra point.

Roodhouse's only score came in the final period as Hausman recovered a fumble and raced 80 yards.

MT. STERLING — (Special) — Coach Tom McKinney's Brown County Hornets played their best game of the young season as they defeated the visiting I.S.D. Tigers 18-13 last night.

In the clean game in which there were few penalties, the Hornets scored touchdowns in the first three quarters to stop the Tigers who had won two games in a row.

It was the Mt. Sterling defense and the fine passing of quarterback Mick Brown that held the Tigers running attack in check and set up the three Brown County scores.

The first Hornet TD came when Phillips intercepted a Tiger pass and raced 80 yards to score. The try for extra point was not good. The other two Mt. Sterling TD's were scored by Brown and Shinnegar.

Jack Rampley scored both touchdowns for the losers. One of his runs was an 80 yard gallop on a kick off. Rampley also made the lone conversion of the game.

Mt. Sterling had 13 first downs while I.S.D. had six. In the way of passing Brown of Mt. Sterling connected for 10 out of 18 while the Tigers passers hit only one out of seven.

It was the first loss of the season for the I.S.D. team.

The next home game for the Brown County team will be October 22 when they entertain Petersburg in the Homecoming attraction.

Bucky Harris Accepts Post As Tiger Boss

DETROIT (AP)—Quiet, easy-going Bucky Harris Friday was given the delicate task of guiding the Detroit Tigers' "youth movement."

Harris—often called the "ball-player's manager" because of his mild-mannered ways—was named manager of the Tigers for 1955.

He accepted a one-year contract to succeed Fred Hutchinson, who resigned Thursday after turning down a similar offer.

The 58-year-old Harris, who has been a big league manager 27 years, was fired as manager of the Washington Senators last week. He had managed the Tigers from 1929 to 1933, never finishing higher than fifth place.

"Harris was my first choice because of his ability to handle young players," said Walter Briggs Jr., president of the Tigers.

"That was the main consideration," Harris agreed to terms in a long distance phone call from Washington.

With a strong accent on youth the Tigers have risen from the black depths of 1952, when the team finished in last place for the first and only time in history.

Under Hutchinson, the Tigers climbed to sixth place last year and fifth place this year.

Harris has managed Washington three times. He led the Senators to the American League pennant in his first two years in 1924-25.

Harris' other peak year was 1947 when he led the New York Yankees to the pennant and a victory in the World Series. But when he finished a close third the following year, he was fired.

A native of Port Jervis, N.Y., Harris also managed the Boston Red Sox (1934) and Philadelphia Phillies (1943) for a year apiece.

Chapin Bearcats Beat Dosh 7-0

MEREDOSIA (Special)— Eddie Smith intercepted a Meredosia pass and Nelson Smith carried the ball over as the Chapin Bearcats defeated the host Meredosia Indians 7-0 in a PMBC Conference game last night.

The defensive men had their way throughout the game as they held the runners of both teams in check. The only other scoring threat came when Chapin scored again but had the play brought back on a penalty.

The Bearcats' score came after Eddie Smith grabbed a Dosh pass and carried the ball to the Indians' 20 yard line. Nelson Smith carried the ball into pay dirt and also made the extra point to give the Chapin club its victory.

Officials: Hartong, Musacca, Murgatroyd.

The Detroit Lions in the NFL have a radio announcer on their team. Defensive halfback Jim David was one of the broadcasters of the Colorado A & M baseball games during the 1954 season.

With a touchdown march sparked by the fine running of Dyer, Scott and Trier and a fine pass from Scott to Knight the Jacksonville Crimson came from behind to defeat the visiting Carlville Cavaliers 12-7 under the lights on the local field last night.

The game was a thrilling, nip and tuck affair all the way. Neither team was able to score in the initial quarter as both defensive lines played above average ball.

End Francis Hudson was injured on the first play of the game and didn't see action from then on.

The Cavalier line held the Crimson runners in check throughout the first period with Trier the only JHS back picking up much yardage. He broke away once for a 13 yard gain.

The first TD of the game was scored by Jacksonville in the second period on a march starting on the 45 yard line of Carlville. Bill Lewis picked up six yards on the option play carrying the ball to the 39. A pass from Lewis to Knight was good for 21 yards taking the ball to the 18. The next play was something new for the Crimson as Knight scored on an end around.

The kick for extra point was not good but the Crimson led at half time 6-0.

The Crimson suffered another injury to a key player at the beginning of the third period when Jim Woodward's arm was pulled out of place. He left the game.

The Cavaliers scored in the third quarter as their line began to open the holes and backs Kirkland, Wiggins and Bomkamp started marching down the field. The TD march began on the Carlville 30 and ended when Kirkland smashed over from the one foot line. Bomkamp went off guard for the extra point and Carlville led 7-6.

The final Crimson touchdown and the one that pulled the Jacksonville team into the lead to give Kraushaar's eleven first Central Conference win came with only five minutes left to play. Billy Lewis mixed the plays up and hit Knight twice—one a short pass and the other a 10 yard toss. While fullback Skip Dyer continued his fine running as he picked up first down after first down in this final march. The hard running sophomore finally smashed over from the two yard line to give JHS a 12-7 victory.

The Crimson lost three men due to injuries. Woodward and Hudson were forced to leave as was Bill Prather.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The University of Tampa said Friday it has approved an award of its achievement to Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, "for outstanding performance in the field of our most popular national sport."

Dr. E. C. Nance, president of the university, wired Lopez Friday informing him the presentation will be made at a banquet on Lopez' return to Tampa.

Lopez is a lifelong resident of Tampa but never attended the university.

Illini-Stanford Game Highlights Today's TV Card

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A gaudy list of intersectional football games, including the Illinois-Stanford televised game of the day at Palo Alto, Calif., vies with the World Series for national sports attention Saturday.

Ten twilight intersectional encounters are on schedule, two involving members of the nation's first 10 and four sending Western Conference representatives against West Coast teams in their continuing rivalry.

These attractions share the spotlight with the second weekly appearance of Notre Dame, tabbed for the national championship under 26-year-old Terry Brennan.

The Irish, 21-0 victories over Texas in their opening game, are hot to an old intrastate rival Purdue, which snapped a 39-game Notre Dame undefeated streak in 1950. This time, however, the Irish, No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, are two-touchdown favorites.

Illinois, stunned by Penn State a week ago, rules a 10-point choice over Stanford's Indians at Palo Alto in the NCAA TV game. ABC is televising it at 3:45 p. m. CST, will preclude a conflict with the World Series game.

Southern California, ninth ranked nationally, invades Evanston, Ill., for a bout with Northwestern. California is at Ohio state and College of the Pacific plays at Indiana.

The Trojans are eight points over Northwestern. Ohio State is a one touchdown pick over California and Indiana is given the same margin over College of the Pacific.

In other intersectional games, Mississippi, eighth-ranked in the country, goes to Villanova; Army travels to Michigan as an eight-point underdog; Georgia Tech is opposition for Southern Methodist's opening game at home; Minnesota is at Pitt; Washington State at Texas and Texas A&M at Georgia. Iowa, ranked No. 3 and conqueror of Michigan State, plays Montana and Wisconsin, ranked fifth, is a slight choice over Michigan State at East Lansing.

Duke tries to uphold its No. 7 ranking against Tennessee while Penn State, No. 10, is at Syracuse.

Other Games:
East — Navy at Dartmouth, William & Mary at Pennsylvania, South — Vanderbilt at Alabama, Louisiana State at Kentucky.

Midwest — Iowa State at Nebraska, Colorado at Kansas, Missouri at Kansas State.

Southwest — Arkansas at Texas Christian.

Pacific Coast — Brigham Young at Colorado A & M, Denver at Wyoming.

Colby Moves Into Semifinals Of Women's Meet

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Vonnie Colby, 19, of Hollywood, Fla., moved into the semifinals of the 24th Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament Friday along with three veteran amateurs.

The stocky Florida youngster, making her first bid for a major title, defeated Greta Leone of Chicago 3 and 1.

Mrs. Marjorie McMillen of Decatur, Ill., and tournament favorites Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., also survived the quarterfinals.

Miss Faulk easily ousted Janice Phelps of Atlanta 6 and 5. Miss Riley downed Mary Crawford of American, Ga., 3 and 2. Mrs. McMillen, Trans-Miss champion in 1950, beat Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore 3 and 1.

Miss Colby faces Mrs. McMillen and Miss Faulk plays Miss Riley in Saturday's semifinals. The championship match is scheduled for Sunday.

Sherwin Gande played in three All-Star football games. In 1952 he was with the All-Stars and in 1953 and 1952 with the Detroit Lions.

World Series Notes

By FRANK ECK
CLEVELAND (AP)—Everyone in Cleveland—even some of the Indians—Friday agreed on one point—that James Dusty Rhodes is the big star of this one-sided World Series.

This 27-year-old outfielder from Deatsville, Ala., who singled to score two runs in the third inning Friday for his fourth straight hit and third in a row as a pinch hitter, is the first one-platoon player in series history to take personal charge of a World Series. Rhodes is used only as a left-handed pinch hitter against right-handed pitching.

If it's any satisfaction to American League fans, the last time the Indians lost four straight was during a three-day July stay in Chicago. We've been up all season, and now we're down," said Indian pilot Al Lopez. When asked to account for the rival's difference in speed, Lopez stressed the fact that the Giants have been coming up with some fine fielding plays.

Even comedian Bob Hope finds it hard to smile over the Indians' chances. When asked what he thought of them, Hope, a Cleveland native and stockholder in the club, just shook his head.

The giant drew 71,555 fans and $464,155.30, richest series game ever. The previous top gate was the $387,574.74 taken in at last year's opening game in Yankee Stadium.

Willie Mays, whose glove and arm helped save the two games in New York, finally lived up to his name as National League batting champion by getting his first hit of the series. After he saw how easy it was, Willie rapped two more safeties and now sports a 300 average for the series. All his hits came with two out.

"There wasn't any turning point. They play as a team."

"Were you surprised at winning three in a row?" a newsman asked.

"All I know is that we were up against a good ball club," said Durocher.

The Giants again will take the field Saturday with Monte Irvin in left field and Dusty Rhodes, the explosive pinch hitter on the bench. Rhodes, with six official times at bat, has seven runs batted in which is only two under the series record set by Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees in 1928 and Gehrig was playing full time. Rhodes has already tied the series mark of three pinch hits, set by Bobby Brown, also of the Yankees, in 1947.

One of the quiet figures in the happy dressing room was Sal Maglie, known as "The Barber," who shaved the Indians in the first game.

"Can you pitch Sunday?" he was asked.

"I hope we end it tomorrow," he replied. "I don't know about Sunday."

"Sure we will," Dusty replied. I gotta go home Sunday and start fishing."

Even with the two strikeouts Friday Rhodes' series record is amazing. The first game he delivered a pinch homer in the 10th inning that scored three runs and won the game.

Thursday he singled home a run as a pinch hitter, then homered.

Friday he came up with the bases loaded and one out and hit the first pitch for two runs. His seventh runs batted in is only two short of the all-time series record for any number of games.

His well wishers pressed him about his continued bench warming since he hasn't been able to dislodge Monte Irvin from the starting lineup despite his phenomenal hitting.

"Leo Durocher knows I'm a streak hitter. He can tell when I'm ready, how I'll never know," Dusty replied. "I think I'm always ready but he can really tell. He didn't play me at all the last week of the season, didn't even let me pinch hit. I guess he was resting me just to pinch hit in the series."

I think I play the field okay, but I'll never be compared with Willie May. I got a pretty fair arm."

Then he grinned broadly.

But I guess it won't take no prizes."

Robin Roberts holds the National League record for most starts in the All-Star game. Roberts has been the starting pitcher in four of them (1950, 1951, 1953 and 1954).

Jerseyville Tops Carrollton 27-13

JERSEYVILLE — (Special)— Jerseyville defeated Carrollton 27-13 last night as both teams opened their 1954 Illinois Valley Conference seasons.

The Jerseyville eleven jumped off to a 21-0 lead in the first period. Edwards scored first for the hosts as he raced 39 yards and also made the extra point. The second TD came when Allen shot up the middle for 32 yards with Edwards again converting. Weller scored his first two touchdowns in the first period and also made the point after. Jerseyville's final TD came in the third period on a smash by Weller. This time the extra point was not good.

Carrollton's first TD was made by Turpin on a one yard plunge. He also came back to score the second touchdown for the losers on a 22 yard gallop in the third period. Jerseyville ..... 21 0 6 0-27
Carrollton ..... 0 7 0 6-13

Coach Al Miller is still undecided about his starting lineup. Bob Winstead will get the nod at quarterback and Bob Scott, a J.H.S.

star of last year, will be at right half. The other halfback position will be filled by either Dick Barnes, a letterman, or Ken Vierck, a first year performer from Harvard, Illinois. The ex-Marine, Vierck, who played his service ball with the tough Camp Lejeune team, has been one of the outstanding runners during the practice sessions at the hilltop.

The line will find Frame at one end with Jim Ridings at the other. Bill Horsley will be at one tackle with either Hess or Charles McKinzie at the other. Hazelrigg and Goodey will be the guards and Gary Curtiss will be at center.

The visiting Eureka team has played one game so far this year and defeated North Central 7-6. Last season the Red Devils topped IC 13-7 on their home field.

Durocher Picks Don Liddle To Hurl Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—Don Liddle, the pint-sized southpaw of the New York Giants pitching staff, was chosen by Manager Leo Durocher to pitch the fourth and possibly deciding game of the 1954 World Series.

"It's Liddle, and I'm not looking beyond tomorrow," said Durocher, brushing aside all questions as to what he would do if the Giants lost to the Cleveland Indians. He also refused to predict a four-game sweep of the series.

Again he heaped praise on his entire team for the 6-2 crusher applied to the American League champions.

Ruben Gomez, the slender Puerto Rican who pitched masterful ball until he got in trouble in the eighth, revealed that he asked to be taken out of the game.

"I told him (Durocher) to take me out," he said. "I was getting tired and this was too important a game."

Durocher explained that Gomez had a bad cold and was having difficulty in breathing—"and besides he was losing his stuff."

Says Wilhelm, the terrific knuckleball pitcher, put out the fire.

The Giant dressing room was noisy after the big victory, but Durocher was on the subdued side, and no one yet was claiming the world championship.

"Was the perfect hit and run in the third the turning point of the game?" Durocher was asked.

"He shook his head."

"There wasn't any turning point. They play as a team."

"Were you surprised at winning three in a row?" a newsman asked.

"All I know is that we were up against a good ball club," said Durocher.

The Giants again will take the field Saturday with Monte Irvin in left field and Dusty Rhodes, the explosive pinch hitter on the bench. ## New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A rally in the stock market in the final hour Friday sent the stock market ahead.

Most of the day was spent with a broadly mixed price pattern dominating quiet trading.

Railroads certainly were undistinguished at the start of the day. They showed gradual improvement throughout the afternoon and then spurted ahead at the close.

Higher with the railroads were the oils, coppers, golds, aircrafts and utilities. The stocks and bonds were mixed as were the chemicals, rubbers and most other major divisions.

The part the railroads played in the market advance was shown by the action of the averages. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 60 cents at $136.20. It was off 70 cents Thursday.

The industrial component lost 39 cents but the railroads were up 1.10 while the utilities advanced 20 cents.

Interest in business was whipped up by the railroad advance, but the total of trading for the day was only 1,850,000 shares. That compares with 1,840,000 shares traded in Thursday's declining market.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed. Volume amounted to 600,000 shares. That compares with 640,000 Thursday.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Railroads improved in late dealings Friday but the bond market was thoroughly mixed.

Utilities and industrials changed hands on a highly selective basis throughout the session as activity centered on the railroads. Many carriers moved into the plus column during the afternoon, but others remained depressed. Net result was an irregular market.

Some long term U. S. government bonds firmed in a steady Treasury list.

Changes in the corporate list were mostly fractions.

"Big Board" volume increased to $3,031,000 par value from $2,934,000 Thursday.

CORN SUPPORT PRICE OF $1.62 ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced Friday it will support grower prices of $1.62 a bushel in an officially designated commercial corn producing area and at $1.22 outside that area. That is the highest price at which corn has ever been supported by the government.

The support rate for the 1953 crop was $1.60 for the whole country. There was no separation between commercial and non-commercial areas.

The support rate in the commercial area is designed to reflect 90 per cent of parity, the level required by law.

Farm legislation directs that support rates in the non-commercial areas be at 75 per cent of the full support rate.

Farmers in commercial areas are subject to production restrictions but those outside such areas are free to grow all they want. The commercial area is made up of 834 major corn-producing counties in 22 states.

OATS STRONG ON FIRM MARKET

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Strength in oats stood out in a generally firm grain market on the Board of Trade Friday. Only cereal to show any weakness was soybeans, suffering from some weekend profit taking after advancing for three straight sessions.

Rye nearly matched oats' strength and would have done so if it had not been for the lagging tendency of the December contract. Wheat came ahead toward the finish, as it did Thursday, on short covering. Corn was unable to get anywhere at any time.

Wheat closed  $\frac{3}{4}$  higher, corn unchanged to  $\frac{1}{4}$  higher, oats  $\frac{1}{4}$  higher, rye  $\frac{1}{4}$  lower to  $\frac{1}{4}$  higher, soybeans  $\frac{3}{4}$  lower and had 7 cents lower to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Buying in oats, as well as in rye, was based on additional private reports of further deterioration to Canadian crops. At Winnipeg oats gained  $\frac{1}{4}$  and rye 1 to  $\frac{1}{4}$ . Western Canada received additional light and unwanted moisture overnight.

Aside from the profit taking, some of the selling in soybeans was tied in with expectations of reports from many country stations said farmers were storing more soybeans than they were selling.

Both soybean oil and soybean meal again showed a little firmer tendency in the cash market. At \$63.50 to \$64.00 a ton, meal was up \$3.50 from the year's low set Sept. 17. Oil at 12 to 12  $\frac{1}{2}$  cents a pound was ahead  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  from the low made Sept. 29.

Wheat showed only mild response to news negotiations were underway for the sale of 384 million dollars worth of American surplus farm products to friendly nations in exchange for their currencies, including 143 million dollars worth of bread grains.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—Hog prices dropped to new lows since February 1953 Friday as salable receipts at 7,000 head mounted 2,000 head above the advance estimate. Butchers scaling 190 to 280 sold mainly at $19.00 to $19.25 with a few reaching $19.35, the top. This was down 30 cents from Thursday and 75 cents from the week. Offerings weighing 160 to 185 were taken at $18.00 to $19.00. Sows sold from $15.50 to $18.75.

Salable receipts in the cattle section totaled 1,000. Steers and heifers sold steady in the usual weekend cleanup trade. Good and choice steers brought $23.50 to $25.50. A few low prime heifers went at prices ranging as high as $25.00.

Cows sold steady to 25 cents higher. A few head of choice and prime vealers hit $23.00. Lambs held steady with good and choice spring kinds at $18.00 to $20.00 and a few prime at $21.00. Salable receipts totaled 500.

Guidance Conference Speaker Tells Right Of Person To Develop

Every person has the right to develop his capacities to the fullest, and it is the guidance counselor's duty to help him realize this destiny," Dr. Esther Lloyd-Jones, Columbia University teachers' college professor of education, told an estimated 600 guidance and personnel workers at an evening session of the Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association convention at MacMurray College last night.

Her address in Annie Merrier Chapel climaxed the state-wide meeting's first day.

A vital part of any person, she stressed, is his ability to do "critical, creative thinking"—to be an individual, to resist social pressures, striving to drive him toward conformity for conformity's sake.

"It is the responsibility of guidance people," she said, "to examine our educational procedures, to consider exactly what we are doing to this quality so vital to students' development as full persons."

Dr. Esther Lloyd-Jones

Dr. Lloyd-Jones, chairman of the committee on education of women of the American Council on Education, was introduced by Dean Rearick of MacMurray.

Dysinger Speaks

Following a dinner at McClelland dining hall earlier in the evening, Dean Wendell Dysinger of MacMurray delivered an address stressing the development of the organization since it was founded in 1946.

He emphasized the importance of guidance counseling as a medium through which the beliefs of education may be applied to the fundamental task of preparing youth for life.

Dean Dysinger further stated his belief that it is important that the fundamental principles of guidance services be reemphasized at the conference. He quoted the late Chief Justice Holmes of the United States Supreme Court who once said, "Restatement of the obvious is infinitely more important than elucidation of the obscure."

Founders Present

Six persons who were present at the first meeting of the association and five past presidents were present at this tenth annual meeting.

Originally formed as an organization to further the coordination of the work of high school and college counselors in central Illinois, the Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association has expanded its scope until it now works toward betterment of guidance services from elementary school through college.

Its members include elementary and high school superintendents, principals and guidance directors, and college administration and counseling personnel—deans of men, deans of women and deans of students.

The annual meeting will hold its final sessions today.
